NO. 9.

BOLD GUERRILLA CHIEF CAUGHT

Lukban, the Irreconcilable Filipino, a Prisoner.

HIS CAPTURE IMPORTANT EVENT.

General Chaffee Reports the Capture of Desperate Leader of the Insurgents in Samar by Lieutenant Stribler's Scouts—He Is to Be Treated as a Prisoner of War of Officer's Rank—American Deserter Captured.

Manila, (By Cable).—General Smith, in command of the United States troops on the Island of Samar, cables that Lieutenant Stribler's scouts have captured Lukban, the notorious leader of the Samar rebels, and brought him to Laguan (capital of a small island of that name, north of and adjoining Samar.)

General Chaffee has ordered that Lukban be treated as a prisoner of war of officers' rank.

Pratt, of the First Infantry, has been engaged with a force of the enemy at Cabagayan, North Samar, and has captured an American calling himself Dunston, who deserted from Company C, of the Eighth Infantry, which is not now in the Philippines. Pratt also captured six rifles, four shotguns, several revolvers, 25 bolos, and all of Abuke's tools for making ammunition. Eleven Filipinos were killed. Abuke's soldiers wounded his daughter, who fell over a precipice when she was shot. Abuke escaped.

Washington, (Special).—The officials of the War Department regard the capture of Lukban as the most important military event since Aguinaldo's capture. He was run down on the Island of Samar. The place of his confinement is a tiny island in a bay on the north coast of Samar.

Lukban is one of the most energetic and ferocious of the rebels. He is a half-breed, a mixture of Chinese and Filipino stock, and he has been an irreconcilable from the first. He had various fastnesses in the mountains of Samar, from which he would descend upon the coast towns, and his reign of terror was so complete that the entire population of the island paid tribute to him as the price of freedom from attack.

MINERS PERISH IN A FIRE.

Sixty Men Were Sleeping When Flames Were First Discovered.

Spokane, Wash., (Special).—Four men lost their lives and a dozen others were injured, three probably fatally, in a fire of unknown origin, which destroyed the boarding and bunkhouses of the Standard mine at Mace, Idaho. Sixty men were asleep in the two buildings when the fire was discovered in the second floor of the boarding house. The alarm was quickly given, but the flames spread with such rapidity that the only escape was by the way of windows. Most of the injured were hurt while making their escape in this manner, though several were badly burned. It is supposed that the men who lost their lives became confused by the fire and smoke in the hallways and were unable to find a window. Their bodies have not been recovered.

TRAGEDY IN A THEATER.

Students Clubbed to Death by Drovniks—A Brutal Attack.

London, (By Cable).—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Express says that the police learning that some 500 students had arranged a meeting to be held in a certain theatre last Friday night, quietly filled the galleries of the theatre with 1,000 Drovniks. After the performance had ended, at midnight, the students remained in the pit, the Drovniks still in the gallery.

At 3 o'clock in the morning, at a given signal, the Drovniks suddenly descended and attacked the students, beating them with clubs in a most brutal manner. The students had arms, ribs and heads broken, and some of them were killed. A large number of them have been sent to hospitals, while others have been imprisoned.

Insurgent Leader Caught.

Manila, (By Cable).—A force of native constabulary at Santa Cruz, province of Laguna, Luzon, has captured Cortez, second in command to the insurgent general Malvar, and turned him over to the military authorities. Cortez was in fancied security in a suburb of Santa Cruz, known as Alipit, and was raising funds for the insurrection. A friendly native informed Inspector Soresen of this fact and the capture of Cortez followed.

English Like American Engines.

London (By Cable).—American railroad methods and American locomotives were referred to approvingly by Lord Stalbridge, chairman of the London and Northwestern Railroad, while presiding at the meeting of the stockholders of that company. "Following the American lead," said Lord Stalbridge, "the Northwestern has introduced more powerful locomotives."

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Domestic.

Gen. Smith, commanding the United States troops on the Island of Samar, reported the capture by Lieutenant Stribler's scouts of Lukban, the guerrilla chief. An American deserter calling himself Dunston was also captured in North Samar.

PRINCE HENRY OF PRUSSIA.

PRINCE HENRY MEETS PRESIDENT

Emperor William's Brother at the White House.

GREETED BY CROWDS ON THE STREET

An Imposing Greeting at the National Capital to the Royal Visitor—The Line of the Procession From the Depot to the Executive Mansion Carefully Guarded by Throngs of Soldiers and Officers.

Washington, (Special).—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the German Emperor, was greeted Monday by the President of the United States, both Houses of Congress, and the municipal authorities of the Capital City, in a manner befitting his high rank and with a democratic simplicity that Princes of royal blood are not accustomed to receive.

There was little of the brilliant display of military and the pageantry of parade which follow the reception of distinguished members of the Royal family visiting foreign nations. Washington crowds, accustomed to inaugural processions, vast throngs on the great thoroughfare from the White House to the Capitol and the gay trappings of soldiery, could scarcely realize that so distinguished a personage was being honored by the Government and that in the history of the nation few others more distinguished have been its guests.

The clear skies and soft sunshine brought forth a large crowd that swarmed the avenues leading to the White House and filled the sidewalks comfortably from the Pennsylvania Station along the route taken by the party, but there was nothing approaching that jam which is a conspicuous feature of the inaugurations every four years. In fact, the crowd was not marked by its numbers so much as its eagerness to see the Prince and his distinguished suite, and peered with intense earnestness at every open carriage as it was driven rapidly along Pennsylvania avenue, and again, when the party left for the German Embassy to receive the return call of the President.

Prince Henry, during his first day in Washington, had few moments to himself, and from the time of his arrival until his departure at midnight was constantly either being received or receiving others. He first called on the President, was then driven to the German Embassy, which will be his residence while in Washington, and at noon received a call from the President. This was just half an hour after he had called at the White House. Then, for nearly two hours he received the various foreign ambassadors, ministers and attaches of the foreign embassies and legations here, and after a luncheon was driven to the Capitol, where at 4 o'clock he was received in the House and watched the proceedings of that body for a few minutes. Thence he went to the Senate and saw that body in session, and, returning to the embassy, prepared for the grand dinner at the White House in his honor at 8 in the evening. One hour after the close of the dinner the Prince was on his private train on his way to New York, where he witnessed the launching of the Emperor's yacht, Meteor III, in the presence of the President and other distinguished persons.

Death of a French General.

Paris (By Cable).—Gen. P. J. J. Jeanningros, who rose from the ranks and fought in Algeria, the Crimea, Italy, Mexico and the Franco-Prussian wars, is dead.

PRINCE BANQUETED BY THE PRESS.

A Brilliant Function at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York.

New York, (Special).—The chief features of Prince Henry's entertainment Wednesday were his luncheon with the captains of industry in the afternoon and his dinner with the press of the United States at night. The Prince spent the morning quietly, resting on his yacht, and the time intervening between the luncheon and the banquet was devoted to a sight-seeing trip about New York during the afternoon, and in the evening a visit to the Arion Club and a review of a parade of the German societies.

His guests at the luncheon were 100 men from different parts of the United States prominent in commerce, industry and finance.

The dinner at night was a magnificent affair, one thousand of the men who make American newspapers sitting at the banquet table with the Prince. He was the special guest of Herman Ridder, proprietor of the New York Staatszeitung, who gathered at his table a majority of the leading figures in American journalism. They came from the four quarters of the country, and made the most noteworthy gathering of their profession ever assembled in the United States.

EMPEROR'S YACHT CHRISTENED.

Prince Henry is Formally Given Freedom of New York City.

New York, (Special).—The launching of Emperor William's yacht, the Meteor III, a luncheon at the shipyard at Shooters Island, a luncheon on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, the ceremony of tendering the freedom of the city of New York by Mayor Low to the royal visitor, a banquet at the Metropolitan Club and a brilliant opera performance at the Metropolitan Opera House made up the program of Prince Henry's third day in the United States.

The weather was wretched, but barring this discomfort, there was nothing to disturb the harmony, the enthusiasm and the success of the launching and all the other notable events of the day.

Miss Alice Roosevelt christened the yacht in charming style, and looked and acted like the typical American girl she is. Prince Henry presented her with a magnificent jeweled bracelet containing a miniature portrait of William II, the costly souvenir a gift of the Emperor.

The luncheon on the Hohenzollern, given by the Prince in honor of the President, was the most brilliant function ever given upon a vessel in American waters.

President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt returned to Washington after the luncheon. Miss Alice Roosevelt remained in New York for the opera.

Everywhere the Prince went he was closely attended by detectives in citizens' dress.

Fire in Wigroom of Opera House.

New York (Special).—At 11:30 o'clock, during the performance of the opera, fire was discovered in the wigroom of the Metropolitan Opera House. It was quickly extinguished and little damage was done. The audience knew nothing of the blaze. The opera singers and the chorus were aware of the fire, because the smoke drifted into the dressing rooms, but soon found that it would not amount to much. Prince Henry and the officers with him knew nothing of the fire.

SIX OFFICES BLOWN UP BY RAIDERS

Explosion Ruined Cripple Creek Gold Assay Equipments.

PLOT AGAINST THE ORE BUYERS.

For Years There Has Been a Systematic Stealing of Rich Ore From the Mines. Amounting to Thousands of Dollars Monthly—It Is Alleged That More Than 50 Assayers Have Made a Business of Buying Such Ore.

Victor, Col., (Special).—Cripple Creek is in a state of terror owing to a preconcerted attack upon the leading assay offices doing business in this district.

Beginning at 3 o'clock Monday morning, and following in rapid succession, six explosions wrecked as many assay offices in the centers ranging from Victor to Cripple Creek and up to Goldfield. In every instance the object sought by the incendiaries was accomplished by the destruction of the office with the equipment of delicate balances.

The raiders did not hesitate to jeopardize life, as all but one of the buildings were also equipped by sleeping families. As it was, men, women and children were hurled out of their beds by the shocks and serious injuries inflicted. The full extent of the damage cannot be estimated now.

In this city the Davenport office was wrecked by two explosions. Almost at the same time the assay offices of Vanderwalker, Morgan & Williams were likewise destroyed. One man, a miner was severely injured in the explosion at Williams' office. He was passing at the moment of the explosion. Flying debris struck him in the face. His injuries may result in total blindness.

In Cripple Creek Benjamin's assay office, north of the Florence and Cripple Creek Depot, was blown up.

In the town of Goldfield, about a mile and a half north, almost simultaneously Boyce's office and another assay establishment were wrecked. Boyce's family occupied an adjoining room. Mrs. Boyce was blown out of bed, but escaped without fatal injuries. She was badly shocked. A family living in the other assay office was also blown out of bed but escaped serious injury.

In this town the powder was placed under the building. The house in which a family lived next to the Williams assay office was much damaged, and a woman was prostrated.

The general impression here is that the acts are the result of a general movement to rid the district of all high-grade ore-purchasing concerns.

Another Big Deal Pending.

San Francisco (Special).—The Examiner says every indication points to the belief that a big railroad and financial deal is on the tapis by which George J. Gould's Missouri Pacific will gain an entrance into San Francisco. Prince Poniatowski, F. S. Bullock, one of his partners in several enterprises, and Senator Clark, of Montana, are reported as being connected with Gould in his scheme to extend the Gould railroad system from Salt Lake to San Francisco.

Wants Popular Election.

Columbus, O. (Special).—The House of Representatives of the Ohio Legislature has placed itself on record as being in favor of electing the United States Senators by a direct vote of the people. This action was taken when the Worthington resolution came up for consideration, it being adopted by a vote of 73 to 23. The resolution asks Congress to take the necessary action.
